

Switching to OCR from AQA B

Introduction

We are really excited about our GCE English Literature qualification. Whether taking on the AS or the full A Level, this fantastic course is a great qualification for those with an interest in the subject. Why choose OCR's English Literature?

- OCR's English Literature specification is enjoyable to teach and learn, giving students the essentials for related higher education courses as well as many transferable, marketable skills
- The course supports the development of the key skills and concepts in the study of literature
- The topics are selected and structured to underpin the knowledge and understanding needed for the next generation of thoughtful and passionate critical readers
- The topics are presented in clear and engaging groupings, helping to broaden the body of literature learners explore in a coherent and interesting journey through the course
- There are many opportunities for personal, tailored choices of texts for study, linking to our flexible assessment model.

Our offer

- Our English team are passionate about the study of English and education. With a breadth of teaching and assessment experience, we are fully committed to supporting centres' delivery of the OCR English Suite.
- We have produced a wide range of support materials, from teacher guides to delivery guides, lesson elements, practical activities, candidate exemplars and more.
- Join our conversation on the OCR Community and @ocr\_english to talk about and share good practice.

Key differences

OCR English Literature	AQA English Literature B
Learners are not required to focus narrowly on one genre for each paper – paper one focuses more broadly on Shakespeare, and then drama and poetry pre-1900. In paper 2 there is a topic study, from a choice of 5 discrete topics. The set texts within each topic or genre selection have been chosen carefully so they illuminate one another, but, so long as you choose one of the set texts, you are free to choose freely from the list of suggested texts to enable you to select texts which will most inspire you and your learners.	Learners focus on one genre from a choice of two for each examined component (tragedy or comedy, then crime writing or political and social protest writing).
When selecting a Shakespeare text for study, there is a choice of six plays.	Having chosen either tragedy or comedy as a theme, there is a choice of two Shakespeare plays for study.
We have created a straightforward assessment structure so you can focus on teaching the literary texts, rather than needing to spend time coaching learners in how to navigate the exam. The structure of the exams is similar in both papers. Both exam papers are the same length, and include two sections, with section B always being a comparative task.	The structure of the exams differs across paper 1 and paper 2. Paper two is a longer exam, and in this exam learners need to ensure they select the right texts to write about in sections B and C to ensure they cover the right combinations of texts across the A level as a whole – choosing the wrong combination of texts constitutes a rubric infringement.
For the NEA (non-examined assessment), learners complete two tasks, one close reading or re-creative piece, and one comparative essay based on two literary	The NEA component consists of two essays, one responding to a poetry text and one to a prose text, both linking to the AQA Critical Anthology.

texts. There is no anthology of critical material which must be covered; instead, learners focus on exploring the literary texts in their comparative task, informed by different interpretations, so the focus remains exclusively on the texts which they have chosen for their NEA.

Content

The content within the OCR English Literature specification covers the key skills and concepts of literary study at this level and will be very familiar. We've structured the AS to maximise opportunities for co-teaching with the A level, and you can find out more about co-teachability in our guide.

Critical anthology set by AQA – NEA</li> </ol> Six texts are assessed in the exams, and 2 plus the critical anthology in the non-exam assessment.
In component 1 you choose: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1 Shakespeare text from a choice of 6</li> <li>1 drama text from a choice of 5</li> <li>1 poetry text from a choice of 5</li> </ul>	In component 1 you choose: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1 genre from a choice of 2</li> </ul> THEN <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1 Shakespeare text from a choice of 2</li> <li>1 drama text from a choice of 2</li> <li>1 additional text from a choice of 4 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- From the drama and additional text, one must be pre-1900</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

In component 2 you choose one topic from a choice of 5: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- American Literature 1880-1940</li> <li>- The Gothic</li> <li>- Dystopia</li> <li>- Women in Literature</li> <li>- The Immigrant Experience</li> </ul> You then choose one text from a choice of two, and a further text from a choice of 9.	In component 2 you choose: 1 genre from a choice of 2 THEN 1 post-2000 prose text from a choice of 2 1 poetry text from a choice of 2 1 additional text from a choice of 4 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- From the poetry and additional text, one must be pre-1900</li> </ul>
The requirement to study a work first published or performed after 2000 is met through the learner's choice of texts studied in the non-examined assessment component – this can be a drama, poetry or prose text.	A post-2000 text is studied in component 2 – this must be a prose text and is chosen as one of 2 set texts.
As you would expect for the study of literature at this level, students are expected to explore: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- the ways writers shape meanings;</li> <li>- the ways texts are interpreted by different readers;</li> <li>- the ways texts relate to one another and to literary traditions, movements and genres, and</li> <li>- the significance of cultural and contextual influences on readers and writers.</li> </ul> These expectations are explored through essay questions which prompt learners to consider these aspects in their readings of the set texts above – so we believe your ability to choose texts which most inspire and enable engagement from your learners is critical to the success and enjoyment of your classes.
When exploring different interpretations of works, we believe the text and the reader should be the focus. Therefore we do not set a generic bank of critical material as required reading.	AQA provide a critical anthology as a required text for the non-exam assessment.

Want to switch to OCR?

If you're an OCR-approved centre, all you need to do is download the specification and start teaching.

Your exams officer can complete an intention to teach form which enables us to provide appropriate support to them. When you're ready to enter your students, you just need to speak to your exams officer to:

1. Make estimated entries by 10 October so we can send you any early release materials, prepare the question papers and ensure we've got enough examiners.
2. Make final entries by 21 February

If you are not already an OCR-approved centre, please refer your exams officer to the centre approval section of our admin guide.

Next steps
