Mark Scheme for June 2017

OCR (Oxford Cambridge and RSA) is a leading UK awarding body, providing a wide range of qualifications to meet the needs of candidates of all ages and abilities. OCR qualifications include AS/A Levels, Diplomas, GCSEs, Cambridge Nationals, Cambridge Technicals, Functional Skills, Key Skills, Entry Level qualifications, NVQs and vocational qualifications in areas such as IT, business, languages, teaching/training, administration and secretarial skills.

It is also responsible for developing new specifications to meet national requirements and the needs of students and teachers. OCR is a not-for-profit organisation; any surplus made is invested back into the establishment to help towards the development of qualifications and support, which keep pace with the changing needs of today's society.

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and students, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which marks were awarded by examiners. It does not indicate the details of the discussions which took place at an examiners' meeting before marking commenced.

All examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected approaches in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and skills demonstrated.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the published question papers and the report on the examination.

OCR will not enter into any discussion or correspondence in connection with this mark scheme.

2	Accuracy of translation The passage has been divided into 8 sections each worth 5 marks. Award up to 5 marks per translated section according to the 5-mark marking grid below. [5] All or almost all correct (as established at standardisation) [4] Minor errors in accidentence or syntax. [3] More serious errors in accidentence or syntax. [2] Accidentence/syntax seriously faulty, but not without sense [1] A very small proportion of correct accidentence/syntax [0] No recognisable relation to the English The general principle in assessing each section should be the proportion (out of 5) of sense achieved. There are many acceptable ways of turning the passage into correct Latin. One approach for each sentence is given. Acceptable alternatives will be illustrated during the process of Standardisation, but examiners should assess the extent to which any approach satisfactorily conveys the meaning of the English.		Stylistic features Additional marks (to a maximum of 10) should be awarded for individual instances of stylish Latin writing. Each word or phrase credited with an additional mark should be indicated with +. Some examples are given below, but these are by no means the only permissible points. Other attempts at connection and subordination, good choice of words and Latinate word-order should also be rewarded. In general, each type of improvement (e.g. promotion of Subject to first word; igitur as 2nd word) should be rewarded once only. Exceptions to this rule include different methods of subordination to link clauses together, and the insertion of different words (enim, itaque, etc.) to aid continuity. The following code applies to points listed below: ✓ = allowable alternative ✗ = unacceptable error → max.4 for that section. ⊕ = specific 'improvement' credited with a 'style mark' (see above)

Question	Answer	Mark	Guidance
	First consider the mark out of 15 for AO2. This should reflect how well the response answers the question, including analysis of the author's use of language/style of writing. Then award a mark out of 10 for AO1, to reflect range and accuracy of reference to the Latin in the passage as a whole. Place a tick in the LH margin of the page beside a point being credited for AO1. Place a tick in the RH margin of the page beside a point being credited for AO2. The points given below in the mark-schemes for Q3 and Q4 are indicative of the range of answers to be expected. It is likely, however, that candidates will include many other points not listed: examiners should give due weighting to any valid points. Look for answers which: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • cover the whole of the printed passage • include a range of points, relating to both content and style • make a coherent, well-focused response to the question. Points are listed sequentially for convenience, but this should not confer any preferential to answers which adopt this approach. Examiners should regard sequential and thematic approaches as equally valid. The wording of all four questions demands attention to both content and style, though not necessarily in equal proportions. Responses therefore cannot be regarded as entirely satisfactory without some attention to stylistic features. The crucial consideration, however, remains relevance to the question: stylistic observations should not be highly rewarded per se if they are not accompanied by some attempt at an explanation of their effectiveness in the context of the question.
