Visit the UK in Olympic Year

What was once a large area of industrial land in London is now an Olympic Park.

The southern part has riverside gardens, markets, cafés and bars. The northern area is quieter, with mostly native trees and many species of wildlife.

Visitors can watch live sports free on large screens.

The Park is accessible to wheelchair users.

Most events are in or near London. Others such as sailing take place elsewhere, so it's a good opportunity to explore other places.

- Attend the most spectacular sporting show on earth! More than 8,000,000 tickets are available from official sales agents.

Don't be fooled by bogus websites and other people claiming to sell tickets to the Games!

- Improved facilities to and from the Games by public transport. Parking facilities are limited but there is a good network of walking routes from stations and safe cycle routes.

GET READY FOR DIGITAL

The Government plans to switch off the old TV signal and introduce a new digital signal.

The date for completion nationally is 2016 but your actual date varies by region – check our website for when.

Benefits include:

- Greater choice of programmes
- New features such as on-screen information and subtitles
- Optional channels including movies and sport for a monthly payment

Changing is as easy as connecting a digital box to your existing TV. You will need to convert all your sets, as they won't work otherwise after switchover. Help is available for the elderly and people with disabilities.

Most DVD recorders will work but won't be able to record one channel while you watch another.

Most aerials will be fine after switchover. Satellite TV and radios will not be affected.
