Analysis and Evaluation
They have used their skills and a limited number of techniques to locate and describe their study area. They have suggested a limited number of techniques and technologies to undertake their enquiry. They have collected and recorded a limited selection of evidence from some sources, mainly fieldwork. They have presented their data in a few simple maps, graphs and diagrams. Their limited evidence has been analysed and interpreted to allow a very simplistic conclusion to be made. They have attempted an evaluation. Their written work contains mistakes in spelling, grammar and punctuation, which sometimes hinders communication. They have either written relatively little or it is of some length but the content is not focussed on the task(s). [01 2 3 4 5 6 7 8]	They have selected and used a variety of skills and appropriate techniques to locate and describe the study area. They have suggested a variety of techniques and technologies to undertake their enquiry. They have collected and recorded appropriate evidence from different sources, mainly fieldwork. They have presented their data in a range of maps, graphs and diagrams. Their evidence has been analysed and interpreted to allow a plausible conclusion to be made. They have made an overall evaluation with some suggested possible limitations, solutions and extensions to inquiry. Their written work is legible and spelling, grammar and punctuation are mostly accurate. Meaning is communicated clearly. They have written with some precision and succinctness, but have not exceeded the prescribed word limit. [9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16]	They have effectively used a wide variety of skills and appropriate techniques to locate and describe the study area. They have suggested an appropriate variety of techniques and technologies to undertake their enquiry. They have collected and recorded accurately a range of appropriate evidence from a wide range of sources, including fieldwork. They have presented their data in an appropriate range of maps, graphs and diagrams. Their evidence has been analysed and interpreted to allow a substantiated conclusion to be made. They have made a critical evaluation with limitations, possible solutions and an extension to their enquiry suggested.
