- 4* Phil is desperate for money. He tells his girlfriend Kirsty to break into the house next door and steal any cash she can find. He grabs Kirsty's teenage daughter Emma and threatens to hurt her badly if Kirsty doesn't come back with some cash straight away. He also warns her not to call the police as he will be watching. Kirsty breaks in but fails to find anything of value to steal. Worried about returning empty-handed, Kirsty drinks half a bottle of vodka before leaving the property. When she returns Phil is holding a knife to Emma's throat and tells Kirsty that he is going to slash her face. Kirsty throws the bottle of vodka as hard as she can at Phil's head hitting him once. Phil dies.

Advise Kirsty on the potential defences which may be available to her against charges of burglary and murder. Do not discuss the offences themselves. [50]

- 5* Arthur is married to Debbie who is pregnant. Debbie's brother, Pete, is staying overnight. He is awoken in the early hours by screaming. He goes to the couple's bedroom to find Arthur beating Debbie over the head with a bedside lamp. Debbie and her unborn child both die. Arthur has a history of sleepwalking and when the police interview him he cannot remember anything except a nightmare in which he was hitting an enemy soldier over the head with his rifle.

PC Smith visits the house to speak to Pete. Pete is diabetic and has low blood sugar after failing to eat properly after taking insulin. He gets into an argument with PC Smith and lashes out uncontrollably, hitting him violently several times. PC Smith dies from his injuries.

Advise Arthur and Pete of their potential liability, if any, for murder and any defences that may be available to them. Do not discuss voluntary manslaughter. [50]

- 6* Daliso works in a bar. He takes home some beer glasses believing that this is a perk of the job. When Daliso is paid he notices that he has been overpaid by £120, but he says nothing and uses the money to buy a pair of jeans. Daliso has told his flatmates that he will organise a party but he has no cash for drinks. He decides to take the £55 they have given him as their contribution to the electricity bill. Daliso does not think £55 will be enough, so he also goes into his flatmate Richard's bedroom and takes £20 from a drawer believing that he will not notice. As Daliso is about to leave the room, Richard returns. Daliso pushes him out of the way and runs off.

Advise Daliso of his potential criminal liability, if any, for offences under the Theft Act 1968. [50]

SECTION C

Answer only one question from this section.

- 7 Imogen wishes to kill her husband, Brian, after finding out he is having an affair. She buys some poison and puts a lethal dose into Brian's coffee. Brian sees what she is doing through the window and does not drink the coffee. In an act of revenge, Brian wires up the garage door in order to teach Imogen a lesson by causing her a nasty shock when she opens it. When Imogen parks on the driveway instead, he waits for her to go to sleep, goes upstairs and stabs her repeatedly. He does not realise that Imogen had died of a heart attack an hour before.

Evaluate the accuracy of each of the four statements A, B, C, and D individually, as they apply to the facts in the above scenario.

Statement A: Imogen is guilty of attempted murder when she buys the poison.

Statement B: Imogen is guilty of attempted murder when she pours the poison into the coffee.

Statement C: Brian is not guilty of attempted murder when he wires up the garage door.

Statement D: Brian is guilty of attempted murder when he stabs Imogen despite the fact that she is already dead. [20]

- 8 Tom runs a café bar. He has given a customer food poisoning by serving them out-of-date prawns. He was assured by the seller of the prawns that they were fresh and fit for human consumption. Tom also serves a customer alcohol without realising he was already drunk. Tom's 16-year-old son, James, is the bar's DJ. He broadcasts music illegally over the radio which interferes with the emergency services' radio frequency. James' friend works in a betting shop and allows him to place a bet on a horse. His employer, Marcus, has warned him not to allow underage gambling.

Evaluate the accuracy of each of the four statements A, B, C, and D individually, as they apply to the facts in the above scenario.

Statement A: Tom is not guilty of a strict liability offence when the customer is poisoned, because the seller of the prawns assured him they were fresh.

Statement B: Tom is guilty of a strict liability offence when he serves the customer alcohol.

Statement C: James is guilty of a strict liability offence when he broadcasts music illegally.

Statement D: Marcus is guilty of a strict liability offence when James is allowed to place a bet. [20]
