

Support highlights

We know teaching has been greatly disrupted in 2020, so to support you we have collated some of our most useful resources. These include materials that will focus your teaching on individual abilities of students, help determine their capabilities and above all save you time. They will enable you to quickly get back up to speed in the classroom and support your students in preparing for exams. Many more resources are available from the OCR website.

OCR A Level (H573) specification

Download our specification

The specification explains the aims and learning outcomes of the qualification. It details what students are expected to know, understand and do. The specification details the content and key knowledge, issues for discussion and suggested scholarly views, academic approaches and sources of authority.

The 'content' column details the focus of each topic and provides information on the main areas of study. 'Key knowledge' provides details of the knowledge expected of students.

Each topic ends with a section detailing discussion points. While it is expected that discussions on these topics will range wildly, the listed points are considered to be central debates and issues appropriate for assessment.

Exam questions can be set on the content, key knowledge and discussion points. The specification also explains aspects of assessment in A Level RS. It is your starting point and is useful for planning, both long and medium term, along with individual lessons.

Curriculum planners

Philosophy of Religion

Religion and ethics

Developments in Christian thought

Developments in Islamic thought

Developments in Jewish thought

Developments in Buddhist thought

Developments in Hindu thought

Curriculum planners are available for each of the seven components and give approximate hours; suggested teaching and learning and resources; scholarly views, academic approaches and sources of wisdom and authority. They give a possible approach of how the specification can be taught.

Command words resource

Download our command words resource

The new command words assessment guide gives the command words we use for our exam questions, with explanations, examples and illustrations. This will help students understand what is expected of them in the exam.
