

Support highlights

We know teaching has been greatly disrupted in 2020, so to support you with the new A Level Law specification, we've collated together some of our most useful resources below for you. We hope our planning guides and assessment story help you to quickly familiarise yourself with the new specification, giving you more time to support your students in preparing for exams. Many more resources are available from the OCR website.

Planning guides

Download the Law making and law of tort planning guide

This guide shows you how Law making and the law of tort could be taught in order to help build your own scheme of work. It gives you more detail about what should be covered for each section, as well as suggesting relevant cases for each section – perfect for areas of law that have changed recently, or that you aren't as familiar with. We'll be releasing further guides for each component of the new A Level – and much of the resource is applicable to the previous specification too.

Assessment story

Download the Assessment story

Our Assessment story provides you and your students with all the information you need to access the exam questions. Each question type is fully analysed, and advice about how to answer questions is given. This guide was written with students in mind, so we would certainly encourage its use by them to support their own understanding of the exams.

A guide to co teaching the OCR AS and A Level Law specification

Download the Co teaching guide

This guide includes curriculum plans produced to support and suggest different ways to approach the co teaching route. This guide includes a standard co teaching route, guidance for centres who share the teaching of classes, a linear route and finally, an alternative route.

There is a complete overlap of content for the AS and A Level meaning that all of the topics studied for the AS exams are also required for the A Level exams. This means whether you decide to enter your A Level students for the AS exams or not, the AS exam papers are an excellent form of assessment that can be used as mock exams or homework assignments to gradually introduce the students to the skills required and the assessment objectives that are examined.

You may also like

What's changed?

This guide shows the updates made to the A Level Law qualification following customer feedback.

Why study law?

Aimed at students and parents, this factsheet outlines some of the key benefits of studying our Law qualification.

Assessment materials

Access past papers, mark schemes and examiners' reports from the OCR website.

New resources to support you

ExamBuilder for A Level Law Coming soon!

ExamBuilder is the question-building platform for a range of our qualifications, and in the coming months A Level Law will join the platform. ExamBuilder is free for all OCR centres and allows you to create personalised mock exams for your students.

Professional development

Ask the Subject Expert: Update on the specification for A Level Law H018/H418 (Online Q&A)

In September we'll be holding two free webinars all about the new A Level Law specification. The webinar will explain the changes we've made and the rationale behind them. Please attend as a department to make sure as many teachers as possible can attend.

Improving your Delivery: How to develop your teaching across A Level Law

In January and February, we will hold two webinars about how to improve your understanding and delivery of A Level Law. The event will explore ways to get more from our resources and discuss key themes from previous examiners' reports and exemplars.

Ask the Examiner: A Level Law

At this online session for A Level Law, you can ask our expert specific questions, as well as listening to the questions posed by your fellow teachers.

Find an event

See our range of professional development courses using the 'Find an event' search tool.

We're now running all our CPD training online rather than face-to-face. Future courses will be in the form of a webinar, offering the same high-quality training as our face-to-face training. If you have any questions, please email professionaldevelopment@ocr.org.uk

Cambridge Assessment resources

Adapting your teaching

Our sister company, Cambridge Assessment International Education have already created lots of guidance and support for teachers going back to school who are having to adapt and change their usual teaching methods. Have a look at their guidance for further ideas and support about ways to support students returning to school in autumn 2020.

Publisher materials

Hodder Education CPD events

Hodder are hosting additional CPD events for the new academic year, with more events focussed on our specifications. Their events will cover aiming for an A, accelerated learning, and human rights, along with multiple resource packs. For further information and prices for the resources, visit the Hodder website.

Keep connected

Blogs

We blogged on supporting teachers with distance learning shortly after lockdown began. If you have students who need to continue with remote learning into the new academic year then the hyperlinks contained within the blog may still be useful.

Get in touch

Phoebe Davis

Subject Support
Co-ordinator

Law@ocr.org.uk

01223 553998

@OCRexams

www.ocr.org.uk

OCR Customer Support Centre

General qualifications

Telephone 01223 553998

Facsimile 01223 552627

Email general.qualifications@ocr.org.uk

OCR is part of Cambridge Assessment, a department of the University of Cambridge. For staff training purposes and as part of our quality assurance programme your call may be recorded or monitored.

© OCR 2020 Oxford Cambridge and RSA Examinations is a Company Limited by Guarantee. Registered in England. Registered office The Triangle Building, Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge, CB2 8EA. Registered company number 3484466. OCR is an exempt charity.

