AS Level

Mark Scheme for June 2023

OCR (Oxford Cambridge and RSA) is a leading UK awarding body, providing a wide range of qualifications to meet the needs of candidates of all ages and abilities. OCR qualifications include AS/A Levels, Diplomas, GCSEs, Cambridge Nationals, Cambridge Technicals, Functional Skills, Key Skills, Entry Level qualifications, NVQs and vocational qualifications in areas such as IT, business, languages, teaching/training, administration and secretarial skills.

It is also responsible for developing new specifications to meet national requirements and the needs of students and teachers. OCR is a not-for-profit organisation; any surplus made is invested back into the establishment to help towards the development of qualifications and support, which keep pace with the changing needs of today's society.

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and students, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which marks were awarded by examiners. It does not indicate the details of the discussions which took place at an examiners' meeting before marking commenced.

All examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected approaches in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and skills demonstrated.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the published question papers and the report on the examination.

1. ‘Hume successfully demonstrates that arguments for the existence of God based on observation are weak.’ Discuss. [30] AO1 Candidates may demonstrate knowledge and understanding through the use of some of the following ideas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the arguments for the existence of God based on observation, such as the teleological and cosmological arguments</li> <li>• the empiricist approach taken by Hume that without sufficient experience, it is not possible to make judgements about ideas such as the creation of the universe or the existence of a designer</li> <li>• Hume’s rejection of arguments from analogy due to the supposed inadequacy of comparing, for example, a human designer to God</li> <li>• Hume’s suggestion that even if a creator or designer were to be a correct conclusion to these arguments, it is not possible to draw conclusions about the nature of this being</li> <li>• other arguments that Hume uses to reject arguments based on observation, such as the problem of evil, the rejection of infinite regression and the fallacy of composition.</li> </ul>	The more successful candidates will focus on the arguments of Hume primarily in their answer.
AO2 Candidates may demonstrate evaluation and analysis through the use of some of the following ideas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the flawed approach of any argument from analogy</li> <li>• the success of the fallacy of composition argument as a challenge to the premise behind arguments based on observation</li> <li>• the importance of experience in discussing matters to do with creation, which we do not have and so cannot employ in the context of arguing for God’s existence</li> <li>• the impact of modern science and cosmology’s contributions to the discussion, such as the suggestion that the balance of probability might reject God’s existence or, conversely, the idea that the Big Bang theory’s suggestion that all things arise from a singularity might reject the fallacy of composition</li> <li>• the definite nature of the problem of evil, even when presented with classical theodicies or, conversely, the centrality of free will</li> <li>• the fact that Hume’s requirement of observation underpinning all argument is borne out by the arguments</li> <li>• the weight of evidence in favour of the arguments from observation</li> <li>• a creator/designer is arguably more likely than brute fact or chance.</li> </ul>

2. ‘Plato’s Form of the Good is more convincing than Aristotle’s Prime Mover.’ Discuss. [30] AO1 Candidates may demonstrate knowledge and understanding through the use of some of the following ideas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the Form of the Good for Plato is at the top of the hierarchy of Forms, which are those perfect, eternal ideals that are to be found in the immutable, perfect, eternal World of Forms</li> <li>• the analogy of the cave illustrates this, where the absolute perfection of the Form of the Good (the sun in the analogy) confuses the escaped prisoner (the successful philosopher)</li> <li>• aspects of this world give glimpses of this Form of the Good</li> <li>• the Prime Mover for Aristotle is the ultimate explanation for change in the world; it draws things to itself without itself doing anything</li> <li>• the Prime Mover is the final cause of all and the only example of pure actuality that contemplates itself</li> <li>• Aristotle’s suggestion that the Prime Mover is to be called ‘God’ is not a suggestion that the Prime Mover is the same as the Judaeo-Christian view of God.</li> </ul>	The more successful candidates will focus their response mainly on the form of the good and the Prime Mover,
AO2 Candidates may demonstrate evaluation and analysis through the use of some of the following ideas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• it is reasonable to suggest that we can see in all things around us glimpses of perfection, which we are unlikely to see around us</li> <li>• it is not reasonable to explain the existence of all things through the concept of pure thought</li> <li>• it is clearer how Plato’s Forms (concepts) are connected to the world (by being ideals) than Aristotle’s Prime Mover (how does it move things in the universe?)</li> <li>• both concepts are impersonal and could be seen as irrelevant to the modern thinker</li> <li>• the Prime Mover successfully explains why things are in constant motion whereas the Form of the Good adds nothing to our understanding of reality</li> <li>• it is more reasonable to base a theory on empiricism than rationalism</li> <li>• there is little evidence for either approach but both approaches provide the basis for modern philosophical and religious thought.</li> </ul>

3. ‘Individual religious experiences are never to be understood as union with a greater power.’ Discuss. [30] AO1 Candidates may demonstrate knowledge and understanding through the use of some of the following ideas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the exploration of mystical experiences as an example of individual religious experiences, perhaps including ideas from James such as the common core of experiences or the fruits of a religious experience</li> <li>• the consideration of conversion experiences as a realignment of an individual’s core values, perhaps based on a need to unite with a greater power</li> <li>• examples of both of the above</li> <li>• consideration of alternative approaches to explaining religious experiences, for example as psychological effects such as illusion or the product of a physiological effect.</li> </ul>
AO2 Candidates may demonstrate evaluation and analysis through the use of some of the following ideas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the view that religious experiences can be explained through an illusion caused by the mind</li> <li>• the view that religious experiences are simply to be explained as wish fulfilment in some form</li> <li>• the view that religious experiences are explainable by physiological effects</li> <li>• the balance of probability suggesting that religious experiences ‘usually’ have other explanations and therefore should never be said to be veridical</li> <li>• the idea that there is sufficient reason in personal testimony and/or witness to support the validity of religious experiences</li> <li>• arguments from James to suggest that the changes in someone’s life or the regularity of certain elements of some religious experiences suggests a true, divine basis for them</li> <li>• consideration and analysis of the difference between suggesting religious experiences point to a greater power and suggesting that they point to the god of a particular faith tradition.</li> </ul>

MARKING INSTRUCTIONS – FOR MARKING ON-SCREEN

June 2023

H173, H573 AS and A Level Religious Studies

1. Mark strictly to the mark scheme.
2. Marks awarded must relate directly to the marking criteria.
3. The schedule of dates is very important. It is essential that you meet the RM Assessor 50% and 100% deadlines. If you experience problems, you must contact your Team Leader (Supervisor) without delay.
4. If you are in any doubt about applying the mark scheme, consult your Team Leader by telephone or the messaging system, or by email.
5. Crossed Out, Rubric Error (Optional Questions) and Multiple Responses.

Crossed Out Responses

Where a candidate has crossed out a response and provided a clear alternative then the crossed out response is not marked. Where no alternative response has been provided, examiners may give candidates the benefit of the doubt and mark the crossed out response where legible.

Rubric Error Responses – Optional Questions

Where candidates have a choice of question across a whole paper or a whole section and have provided more answers than required, then all responses are marked and the highest mark allowable within the rubric is given. Enter a mark for each question answered into RM assessor, which will select the highest mark from those awarded (The underlying assumption is that the candidate has penalised themselves by attempting more questions than necessary in the time allowed.)

Longer Answer Questions (requiring a developed response)

Where candidates have provided two (or more) responses to a medium or high tariff question which only required a single (developed) response and not crossed out the first response, then only the first response should be marked. Examiners will need to apply professional judgement as to whether the second (or a subsequent) response is a 'new start' or simply a poorly expressed continuation of the first response.

6. Always check the additional pages (and additional objects if present) at the end of the response in case any answers have been continued there. If the candidate has continued an answer there then add a tick to confirm that the work has been seen. The 'link page' check box should be used on RM Assessor to link candidate responses in additional objects to the corresponding question number.

- a. Where additional objects are present, all pages must contain an annotation, or RM Assessor will not allow you to submit the script.
- b. Where no response is given by a candidate on a whole page the 'BP' annotation must be applied.
- c. Where generic answer booklets are used, all pages must contain an annotation, or RM Assessor will not allow you to submit the script.
- d. Where structured answer booklets are used, the 'BP' annotation must be applied to all pages where no response is given by a candidate.

7. Award No Response (NR) if:

- there is nothing written in the answer space.

Award Zero '0' if:

- anything is written in the answer space and is not worthy of credit (this includes text and symbols).

Team Leaders must confirm the correct use of the NR button with their markers before live marking commences and should check this when reviewing scripts.

8. The comments box is used by your team leader to explain the marking of the practice responses. Please refer to these comments when checking your practice responses. Do not use the comments box for any other reason.

If you have any questions or comments for your team leader, use the phone, the messaging system, or e-mail.

9. Assistant Examiners will send a brief report on the performance of candidates to their Team Leader (Supervisor) via email by the end of the marking period. The report should contain notes on particular strengths displayed as well as common errors or weaknesses. Constructive criticism of the question paper/mark scheme is also appreciated.

10. For answers marked by levels of response:

- a. To determine the level – start at the highest level and work down until you reach the level that matches the answer
- b. To determine the mark within the level, consider the following:

Descriptor	Award mark
On the borderline of this level and the one below	At bottom of level
Just enough achievement on balance for this level	Above bottom and either below middle or at middle of level (depending on number of marks available)
Meets the criteria but with some slight inconsistency	Above middle and either below top of level or at middle of level (depending on number of marks available)

Consistently meets the criteria for this level	At top of level

11. Annotations

Annotation	Meaning
	Level one – to be used at the end of each part of the response in the margin.
	Level two – to be used at the end of each part of the response in the margin.
	Level three – to be used at the end of each part of the response in the margin.
	Level four – to be used at the end of each part of the response in the margin.
	Level five – to be used at the end of each part of the response in the margin.
	(H573 only) Level six - to be used at the end of each part of the response in the margin.
	Highlighting a section of the response that is irrelevant to the awarding of the mark.
	Point has been seen and noted, e.g. where part of an answer is at the end of the script.

SUBJECT-SPECIFIC MARKING INSTRUCTIONS

H173, H573 AS and A Level Religious Studies

Introduction

Your first task as an Examiner is to become thoroughly familiar with the material on which the examination depends. You should ensure that you have copies of these materials:

- the specification, especially the assessment objectives
- the question paper and its rubrics
- the mark scheme.

Please ask for help or guidance whenever you need it. Your first point of contact is your Team Leader.

Information and instructions for examiners

The practice scripts provide you with examples of the standard of each band. The marks awarded for these scripts will have been agreed by the Lead Marker and Team Leaders.

The specific task-related indicative content for each question will help you to understand how the band descriptors may be applied. However, this indicative content does not constitute the mark scheme: it is material that candidates might use, grouped according to each assessment objective tested by the question. It is hoped that candidates will respond to questions in a variety of ways. Rigid demands for 'what must be a good answer' would lead to a distorted assessment. Candidates' answers must be relevant to the question. Beware of prepared answers that do not show the candidate's thought and which have not been adapted to the thrust of the question. Beware also of answers where candidates attempt to reproduce interpretations and concepts that they have been taught but have only partially understood.

Using the Mark Scheme

Please study the Mark Scheme carefully. The Mark Scheme is an integral part of the process that begins with the setting of the question paper and ends with the awarding of grades. Question papers and Mark Schemes are developed in association with each other so that issues of differentiation and positive achievement can be addressed from the very start.

This Mark Scheme is a working document; it is not exhaustive; it does not provide 'correct' answers. The Mark Scheme can only provide 'best guesses' about how the question will work out, and it is subject to revision after we have looked at a wide range of scripts.

Please read carefully all the scripts in your allocation and make every effort to look positively for achievement throughout the ability range. Always be prepared to use the full range of marks.

The Mark Scheme contains a description of possible/content only; all legitimate answers and approaches must be credited appropriately. Learners are expected to make use of scholarly views, academic approaches and sources of wisdom and authority to support their argument.

The Levels of Response must be used in conjunction with the outlined indicative content.

Assessment Objectives

Two Assessment Objectives are being assessed in all questions:

AO1 (Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of religion and belief) and

AO2 (Analyse and evaluate aspects of, and approaches to, religion and belief, including their significance, influence and study).

Responses are credited for AO1 for selection, detail and accuracy of the knowledge and understanding of religion and belief deployed.

Responses are credited for AO2 for how well the response addresses the question, for candidates using their knowledge and understanding to draw, express and support conclusions in relation to the question posed. Candidates will be assessed on the quality of the conclusions and points they argue and the clarity and success of their argument.

Levels of Response

Questions in this paper are marked using a levels of response grid. When using this grid examiners must use a best fit approach. Where there are both strengths and weaknesses in a particular response or particularly imbalanced responses in terms of the assessment objectives, examiners must carefully consider which level is the best fit for the performance.

Note that candidates can achieve different levels in each assessment objective, for example a Level 3 for AO1, and a Level 2 for AO2.

Please note that the Assessment Objectives being assessed are listed at the top of the mark scheme. Where a candidate does not address all of the Assessment Objective strands listed, the candidate cannot achieve the top level of response.

Assessment of Extended Response

The GCE General Conditions of Recognition state that:

GCE 5.1 In designing and setting the assessments for a GCE qualification which it makes available, or proposes to make available, and awarding organization must ensure that, taken together, those assessments include questions or tasks which allow Learners to -

- a) provide extended responses

As such, the quality of extended responses are assessed in all questions. While marks are not specifically given for this, descriptors for extended responses can be found in the AO2 Levels of Response in italics.
